A problem we “don’t talk about”

75%

of women occasionally or regularly experience difficulties in their intimate area

Most common issues:

- infection
- dryness
- itching
- white flow
- unpleseant odors

But many women (and even men) are struggling in silence and cosmetic industry is leaving them with very limited options for their hygiene care.

Luxury Intimate care

Luxury Intimate is a new intimate skincare brand aimed at normalizing regular care of intimate parts of both women and men.

We believe intimate care is something we should all embrace and discover with genuine curiosity, therefore we developed the first 100% natural nourishing intimate oil LI QUANDISA by LUXURY INTIMATE.

Our product line is becoming a synonym for natural intimate care and is a step forward in nourishing and maintaining the health of our intimate area.

Developed in collaboration with leading gynecologists, dermatologists and biochemists.

All natural

Li Quandisa is a line of natural products for women and men of all generations that helps them maintain the well-being of their intimate areas.

It consists of purely natural ingredients and is virtually the only oil on the market for intimate care and preventive care it ensures.

I warmly recommend this oil to women of all generations. Since I have been using it, my troubles with vaginal discharge and the uncompanying unpleasant scent have disappeared.

My mucosa is back on track and I am ordering the oil for my daughter as we speak. And by the way, you use up the oil very slowly. I can't thank you enough for this product.

People behind the brand

Four years ago we ditched all of the chemical cosmetic from our life and now firmly believe that the ultimate choice for our bodies is organic and natural cosmetics.

After we could not find any suitable & natural products for our intimate care and hygiene we decided to go and produce it by ourselves.

So we found and upgraded an old Russian recipe with big support of different experts.

An Emerging Market Category

Luxury Intimate was chosen as a new trend, from 25.000 products in Cosmoprof 2019.

Intimate care, up until now a largely untapped market, is emerging as a new category in beauty and wellness. Products for both internal and external intimate care boast with luxurious formulas, sensorial experiences, and high quality natural ingredients.

They will become an important step in our grooming regimens and stop being a source of shame or stigma. Their elevated positioning on par with premium skincare comes in premium packaging and visually pleasing aesthetics that encourage display on bathroom shelves.

The growing demand in the plant-based industry - projected to reach $115 billion by 2020 - is said to be driven by women, stemming from interests in holistic wellness and distrust of certain foods, drugs, and products.

Li Quandisa all natural plant-based intimate care products are speaking directly to that need.

If six stars were possible, Li Quandisa would have them! An exceptional, effective oil regardless of medical issues you are facing and which generation you belong to. The positive feedback I receive every week from my clients at Prelest House of Beauty and Health is amazing.

And, you are not going to believe this; men also love the product! We are goddesses - in the ultimate meaning of the phrase.
